JOB ANNOUNCEMENT

Youth Conservation Corps Program

Why Join the Youth Conservation Corps (YCC)?

The YCC promotes natural resource conservation by America's youth and prepare participants for the ultimate responsibility of managing resources for the American people. The program:

- Accomplishes important conservation work in Valley Forge National Historical Park
- Provides youth with gainful employment
- Develops understanding and appreciation of the nation's natural environment and heritage.

Crew members learn work ethics, how to relate to peers and supervisors, and how to build lasting cultural bridges with youth from other backgrounds.

Typical Duties

The YCC Program at Valley Forge centers on the control of non-native, invasive plants and animals in the park. These species are a primary threat to the natural diversity of the park ecosystem. Approximately 40% of work time is spent in fields and forest removing non-native plants such as mile-a-minute weed and oriental bittersweet vines. An additional 40% of work time is spent in a stream catching and removing invasive crayfish. One day per week is dedicated to environmental education and includes field trips to other local areas of interest as well as presentations by park staff. The YCC also helps park partners on other conservation projects such as trails and tree planting.

In the words of 2010 YCC crew member, Erin Clark: At the beginning of my 8 weeks, I told my parents I was almost like a glorified weed puller, but as I learned about the different invasive species we were controlling I started to take pride in my work. Every rusty crayfish that we caught and every strand of mile-a-minute weed that we pulled saved a native crayfish or another native plant from being overrun or killed. Our work made a difference. Overall, this summer was one I will never forget. Work was balanced with enjoyment and new things to see, explore, and understand. I loved the people I worked with and am thankful for this opportunity. So next time you look on the side of the road and see teenagers pulling weeds and think 'glorified weed puller,' take another look and see we are really preserving the beauty of nature and history – we are preserving us.
